

A photograph of two brown pelicans in flight over a body of water. The pelican on the left is in the process of splashing into the water, with its wings spread and its head down. The pelican on the right is also in flight, with its wings spread and its head down, but it is not yet in the water. The water is a deep blue color with ripples. The text "DIGITAL FILES" is overlaid on the image in a large, bold, black font with a white outline.

A white egret stands in shallow, dark water, its wings spread wide. The bird's long, thin legs are visible, and its long, pointed beak is directed towards the left. The water is dark and textured, with some ripples and small droplets visible near the bird's feet. The overall scene is captured in a high-contrast, almost painterly style.

That's still a little high...

I can give it to you now for $149.50, and it will auto renew for that amount every year.

OK, that sounds good...

Then, this year, based on low usage, I wanted to stop auto renewal.

Uploading and Downloading Trees

Ancestry® uses GEDCOM (Genealogical Data Communications) files to download and upload family trees. Only the owner of a family tree can create and download the tree. You don't need a membership to upload or download your tree.

GEDCOM is a universally-accepted file format for family tree files. To upload a GEDCOM file to Ancestry, your file must be 500 MB or smaller. GEDCOM files are text-only; pictures, charts, books, and similar items from an original file are not included in a GEDCOM. Vital information, notes, and sources are usually retained after conversion. In order to open a GEDCOM file on your computer, you'll need software that reads GEDCOM files.

Downloading your tree from Ancestry®

1. From any page on Ancestry, click the Trees tab and select a tree.
2. From the tree, click the tree name menu in the top-left corner and select Tree Settings.
3. On the right side of the Tree Settings page, click Export tree.
4. The button will begin spinning and say Generating a GEDCOM file. When it stops spinning and turns green, right-click (Mac: Ctrl+ click) on the Download Your GEDCOM File button that appears.
5. In the drop-down menu from right-clicking, select Save as, Save target as, or Save link as.
6. In the window that appears, choose a location on your computer and click Save. If you select Desktop as the location, the file will save to the main screen of your computer.

Uploading a tree to Ancestry®

Upload a family tree

1. Click Choose File or Browse.
2. Select the GEDCOM file you want to upload and click Open.
3. Enter a name for your tree in the Name your family tree field.
4. To make your tree private, uncheck Make my family tree public. By default, all trees are listed as public. In public family trees, all information is viewable and searchable except for information about living people.
5. Enter a description (optional). If the tree will be public, the description will be public.
6. Check the box accepting the Terms and Conditions and Privacy Statement and click Upload.
7. The new tree will now appear in your Trees tab.

Merging family trees

It's not currently possible to merge trees on Ancestry®, but these tips may help.

GEDCOM is a file format for exchanging genealogical data between different systems. Slide 29

A detailed illustration of a three-masted sailing ship, possibly a galleon, navigating through a turbulent sea with large, white-capped waves. The ship's sails are partially set, and it has red flags on its masts. The sky is filled with dramatic, swirling clouds in shades of blue, purple, and yellow, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall style is that of a classic maritime painting.
